October is full of major events related to the LBGTQ+ Community. For instance in 1994 a coalition of education based organizations in the United States designated October as LBGTQ+ History Month. The purpose of this month is to recognize the impact LBGTQ+ individuals have had on history locally, nationally, and internationally.

In October we also celebrate National Coming Out Day, International Pronouns Day, and Ace Awareness Week.
COMING OUT?

You get to decide for yourself when, if, and how you come out.

It can help to find a support person to come out to one-on-one. This can be a friend, a family member, or an adult at school who you trust.

Coming out does not just happen once. It is a process that happens over and over again because we live in a heteronormative and cisnormative society, where people are expected to be straight and cisgender. Although this can be intimidating, it can get easier after the first time, and having that emotional support person to talk to along the way can help.

Sexual orientation and gender identity are not set in stone! “Coming out” by sharing an identity or using certain pronouns doesn’t mean you’ll want to identify that way forever.
